

Laboratory Door Signage

BACKGROUND

Doors leading from public areas into labs have hazard signage to indicate the types of hazards contained within (see below). This sign and associated information is used to assist responders in case of emergency. Additionally, any person entering your lab will be aware of the hazards inside.

- All door signs will provide contact information to Campus Security who will have access to the emergency contacts database. Use the Laboratory Registration Process document to make any changes to the emergency contacts for your laboratory.
- Periodically check your signage to ensure that the sign clearly reflects the hazards in your lab.
- To change information on the sign, please contact HSE
